

- ◆ Are you interested in Appleby and the surrounding area, and in its past, present and future ?
- ◆ Would you like to learn more about the wealth of history in the town and district?

Then, why not become a member of the Appleby-in-Westmorland Society?

The Appleby-in-Westmorland Society was formed in 1990 and has, since then, been concerned with matters which affect the town, the surrounding area and the people.

Its aims include the promotion of high standards of planning and architecture, the preservation of features of historic interest and the stimulation of interest in the geography, history and architecture of the area.

These objectives have been addressed in a variety of ways.

- A very successful History Audit has been carried out (and we still want more information, please). Using some of the information gained through this survey we have been able to mount several interesting and informative exhibitions in the Moot Hall Exhibition Area
- An Award Scheme has been introduced for building and renovation projects which contribute positively to Appleby's townscape.
- The Society played a major role in the setting up of the Appleby Alliance - a partnership involving public, business and voluntary sector interests and, although no longer formally a member, the Society continues to take a keen interest in the work of the Alliance.

So, join now and

- ☒ become more involved in the area in which you live,
- ☒ learn more about its past,
- ☒ be active in its present and
- ☒ help plan its future.
